“3D visuals add that extra dimension to client pitches and presentations”

Event Director, InDemand Agency

Why will 3D visualization be beneficial to YOU...

3D visuals are ideal for bringing a concept to life, an impressive way to develop, explore and present both product interiors and exteriors, add that extra pizzazz to a client presentation or used for a marketing campaign.

3D Visualization.... Creativity Starts Here

5 Reasons 3D Visualization works

1. Provides a great tool to sell schemes off-plan to clients from the development stage.
2. Offers a visually attractive presentation tool for you designated purpose.
3. Gives your potential client a clear insight into what your offering as your concept.
4. Offers a cost effective way to present your Ideas without costly build costs.
5. allows you to develop and visualise your idea in real-time.

Bring your ideas to LIFE

What our clients say...

Testimonial

It's not very often I am impressed. I tend to produce my own 3D visuals myself, because other peoples interpretations of my designs are never fully illustrated or represented as accurately as I have hoped when I give them over for 3D modelling.

The details are missing, or distorted and the colour rendering has been all too often, well, just wrong. I was more than delighted with the colour rendering and attention to detail. I had given you very little to go on, bearing in mind you only had floor plans and a rough 'Google Sketch-Up' model to work from.

Be in no doubt, I will be using your services again. I was impressed and I've now found an illustrator who has studied my plans - my model and used good skill and judgement to turn a few lines into something that has a life all of its own. I have a roadside retail scheme a valued client has asked me to produce a 3D illustration of.

I will be handing this to you to work your magic and retain this client for the future.

Thank you again for your attention to detail and animating the London scheme. It now has a real chance of getting approval and bringing us all some much needed pennies.

Gratefully and sincerely,

Why use us...

Mg4 Designs has over 10 years experience in producing 3d visualizations, working with architects and developers. We produce high quality presentation visuals for their projects, helping to enhance the marketability of a scheme. Our CGI renders help you the designer to take a vision from a conceptual stage, to creating an impressive realistic impression without the need of costly construction and development.

They have proven to be very effective as a marketing tool for new ventures, from helping to encourage potential property sales off plan, or acting as a tool to securing funding from investors for larger developments.

We also produce CGI renders for manufactures and distributors who require their product range to be presented in shots that represent them in their traditional environments.

8 3D Visualization... Creativity Starts Here

With 3D visualisation creativity is the only barrier, 3D visualisation can create something which can not be photographed, recreate a buildings original architecture, reduce the spend of creating costly prototypes or simply turn an ideal into something visual.

What we do...

Photo Manipulation

Combining CGI and photograph to create a new image, by separately modelling areas which need changing, then matching the lighting and perspective of the original image to create an updated impression of the scene.

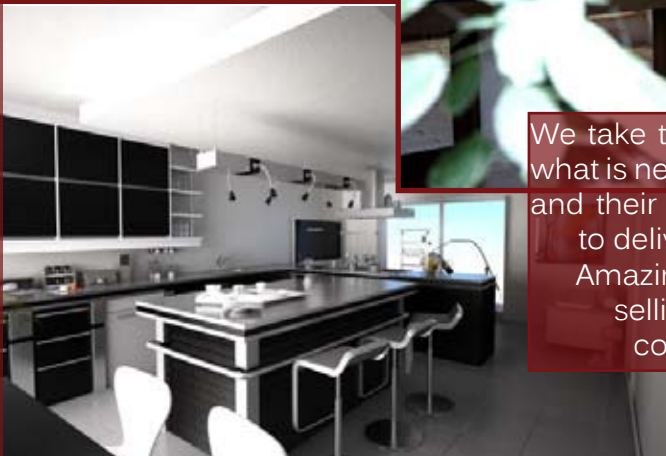

There are several reasons where this may be useful...

- Your image has become dated due to market fashions changing
- You have a new product range but have already done your photo shoot
- You have done your photography and a last minute adjusted means your product is slightly different.
- It is more cost effective to manipulate your photos.

Interior Visuals

We produce lifestyle shots for manufacturers, distributors and interior designers requiring realistic impressions of their visions without the costly production and building costs at conceptual stage. Using CGI can give the client infinite flexibility when selling an idea to a potential buyer.

We take the time to understand what is needed by from the client and their target market in order to deliver what they need. Amazing photo-real shots, selling a lifestyle at a competitive price.

Exterior renders

We produce stunning and lifelike 3d visualisations for architects developers and marketing agencies in the construction industry.

Whether it be Architectural Visualisations, residential or commercial, exterior renders and interior renders, walkthroughs, flythrough and virtual show homes, we can provide our customers with what they require with the necessary expertise to deliver highest quality visuals on a quick turnaround, on brief, on time and at a competitive price.
